

Information For Employers

The NSW Department of Education & Training is keen for employers to take up school based apprenticeships and traineeships and will provide ongoing support to those who choose to do so. School based apprenticeships and traineeships offer a valuable pathway for students and an excellent means for developing the skilled employees so desired by employers.

Overview

What employers are asked to do to support the establishment of a school based apprenticeship or traineeship

The NSW Department of Education & Training requests employers to:

- complete an Employer Expression of Interest
- respond to questions asked by NSW DET as set out in the Employer Questionnaire and Checklist for Employment of an SBAT form
- read the individual student's Student Needs Assessment form, if provided, and respond as necessary
- provide a safe and non-threatening work environment for the apprentice or trainee
- be aware of the purpose of the Department's Incident Report and follow-up procedures
- comply with relevant laws including OHS and child protection laws.
- notify the student's school if your apprentice or trainee is absent from scheduled work during school hours.

State Training Services

For specialist advice about the operation of school based apprenticeships and traineeships in your area, including other employers offering these opportunities, contact your local State Training Services office on 13 28 11. State Training Services support school based apprenticeships and traineeships and work closely at the local level with other personnel including the Department's regional vocational education consultants mentioned below.

For further information:

- about school based apprenticeships and traineeships in NSW, visit www.sbatinnsw.info
- about apprenticeships and traineeships in NSW, including school based apprenticeships and traineeships, visit www.skilling.nsw.gov.au
- about the contact details of Australian Apprenticeship Centres, including those supporting your postcode area, visit www.newapprenticeships.gov.au
- about the operation of the school based apprenticeship and traineeship program in your area, contact your local NSW government high school for details of the Department's regional vocational education consultant with responsibility for school based apprenticeships and traineeships
- about working with children and young people, visit the Commission for Children and Young People website at <http://www.kids.nsw.gov.au> or telephone 02 9286 7219
- on workplace safety and workers compensation matters, contact WorkCover NSW on 02 4321 5000 or the WorkCover Assistance Service on 13 10 50 or visit www.workcover.nsw.gov.au

Local Contacts

Local State Training Services office direct number:

School Region contact person for school based apprentices and trainees:

School contact person for school based apprentices and trainees:
